Quotables

- The self assessment for knowledge requirement is a great step forward! I took the full course however the fact we are doing this is a grea start to taylor training for end users!
- * Choice to abbreviate and limit the content so you only see what's appropriate for your role.
- The graphical set-up of this course was inviting and inspiring me.
- * One of the best pieces of training I've done this year.
- Nice course if you are looking to spend 45 minutes on exhaustive details of overly complex process. Seriously, the course is quite good; it is the subject matter that is too detailed and complex for the basic user.
- The maps, which describe the processes.
- Real-world examples (bike, flooded basement) helped make concepts accessible to a non-QA person.
- Nice web training which summarizes the key points
- Colorful, well organized, easy to understand
- Concise presentation
- Short
- Very interactive and clear

Suggestions

- We could market it as a sleeping aid
- Vastly shorten
- Request for Chinese and Spanish version
- Too complicated
- More real-life examples
- I would make it simpler, more to the point, higher level and less complicated.
- Doesn't apply well to my day-to-day job.
